

HONNO: Welsh Women's Press

Honno publishes vibrant new fiction, autobiography and short story anthologies as well as re-publishing classic Welsh women writers.

Honno was set up in 1986 by a group of women who felt that women in Wales had limited access to literature which related specifically to them.

You can join the Honno community and support the women writers of Wales by buying shares* . We are registered as a community co-operative and any profit we make goes towards future publications. So far over 550 women from all over Wales and beyond have joined Honno. We hope that many more women will be able to help us in this way.

Each supporter, regardless of number of shares held, will have her say in the company and one vote at the AGM. Supporters also get a 25% discount on all Honno titles. Although shareholding is restricted to women, we welcome gifts and loans of money from anyone.

Honno books are:

"A source of inspiration" WiP

"A cracking good read" dovegreyreader.co.uk

"A marvellous compilation of reminiscences" Time Out

"Powerful and engaging" The Women's Review of Books

If you would like to join Honno...

Fill in the form and return it with your payment, to the address below.

I would like to buy..... shares at £5 each and enclose the sum of £..... payable to Honno.

Name:.....

Address:.....

.....

Please add my email address to the Honno e-newsletter:

.....

 Supporters liability is limited to the amount invested and they are not responsible for any debts incurred.*

Please return to: Honno, Unit 14, Creative Units,
Aberystwyth Arts Centre, Aberystwyth, Ceredigion, SY23 3GL
01970 623150 / post@honno.co.uk / www.honno.co.uk